Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida

DEGREE: B.S. in Psychology, 1978
MINOR: Speech Communication

EXPERIENCE:

PRIVATE PRACTICE: NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

August, 1985 to Present:

Presently engaged in a variety of clinical and consultative roles including the following: Psychological evaluations, neuropsychological assessments, psychotherapy, stress management, and evaluation of post-traumatic stress disorder; forensic evaluations addressing competency to stand trial, sanity at the time of the crime (sanity commissions), and other psycholegal/dispositional issues; conducting child custody and parental fitness psychological evaluations for the local parish courts and the Department of Children and Family Services; serving as President of the non-profit Louisiana Coalition Against Human Trafficking, and member of the Governor's Human Trafficking Prevention Advisory Board.

September, 1983 to July, 1985:

Atascadero State Hospital, Atascadero, California: Staff Psychologist. Coordinated all evaluation and treatment activities for a 35 patient psychiatric unit for individuals committed under criminal/judicial statutes. Duties included completing evaluations of competency to stand trial, potential for further violence, restoration of sanity, and amenability for treatment. Testified as expert witness in several court jurisdictions, working closely with judges, attorneys, and law enforcement officers. Also engaged in staff training and development regarding psychological assessment, psychotherapy techniques, stress management, and approaches to treatment planning and evaluation.

September, 1982 to September, 1983:

Atascadero State Hospital, Atascadero, California: Clinical Psychology Intern. This was a one-year pre-doctoral internship providing specialized training in forensic psychology. Supervised training opportunities were provided in forensic mental health evaluations, including assessment of competency to stand trial, sanity at the time of crime, and potential for future re-offending. Developed a standardized evaluation procedure to assess Hispanic patients' suitability for a culturally sensitive treatment program. Internship included a rotation at the Counseling Center of California Polytechnic State University, which involved counseling college students concerning personal and academic problems. Duties included career counseling and evaluation.

June, 1981 to September, 1982:

Feliciano Forensic Facility, Jackson, Louisiana: Psychological Assistant III. Conducted evaluations for patients committed under criminal/judicial statutes. Assessments generated recommendations relating to various forensic issues, including competency to stand trial, potential for violence, and mental state of the time of offense. Also engaged in neuropsychological assessments using the Halstead-Reitan Battery and the Luria-Nebraska with a broad range of clients.

June, 1981 to September, 1982:

The Runnymede Clinic, 10319 Old Hammond Highway, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, 70815: Clinical Associate. Member of an interdisciplinary health care team in private psychological firm. Clients included children, adolescents, adults and families. Engaged in a variety of treatment modalities including stress management, behavioral medicine procedures, individual, group, and family therapy. Duties also included neuropsychological assessments of adults, adolescents, and children, educational evaluations contracted for by school systems, and behavioral assessments, as well as more traditional psychological evaluations. Also provided consultations, evaluation and therapy services to St. Joseph's Children's Home, a residential setting for girls. Subspecialty area included assessment and treatment of Hispanic patients.

September, 1980 to July, 1981:

Don Liechtenstein, Ph.D., Inc., 625 Colonial Dr., Baton Rouge, Louisiana, 70813:
Conducted psychological evaluations for a private psychological firm in contractual agreement with the Chemical Dependency Unit at Baton Rouge General Hospital. Patients included adolescents and adults experiencing a variety of substance abuse disorders. Provided recommendations to hospital staff for the purpose of treatment planning.

September, 1979 to August, 1981:

Student Health Service, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, Louisiana: Psychological Assistant. Provided academic, career, and personal counseling to college students. Counseling modalities included individual, couple, family and group therapy. Treatment was most often short-term, problem or crisis-oriented. Other duties included conducting psychological and academic evaluations, and collaborating with other disciplines concerning counseling issues and operating policies.

August, 1979 to June, 1980:

Psychology Department, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, Louisiana: Teaching Assistant. Assisted in the preparation of lectures and examinations for upper level undergraduate psychology courses. Substituted professor in delivering lectures when necessary. Coordinated ongoing research projects for students working under professor.

January, 1979 to June, 1979

Developmental Disability Center, 408 Government St., Baton Rouge, Louisiana: Program Evaluator. Conducted evaluations of several programs funded by this agency. Evaluation consisted of reviewing the design and implementation of the programs based on written description and on-site visits.
